

New Forest West Constituency Labour Party

JOHANNA BAXTER BIOGRAPHY

Johanna is not a national journalist, special adviser or Oxbridge Graduate but the granddaughter of a Killoch Pit miner who has dedicated her life to the Labour movement. Her first experience of activism involved representing fellow workers in a Glasgow call centre as a CWU rep whilst funding her own way through her degree in Politics and Law at Strathclyde University. Whether during her time on the TUC Organising Academy, working as a negotiator for PCS or in her current role as a National Officer for the trade union Prospect, she has fought a daily battle for better terms/conditions at work for thousands of employees in the private/public sectors. Johanna's political experience is rooted in local community activism but she has also enjoyed spells on the Young Fabians Executive, as a school governor in Birmingham and as guest editor for LabourList. In her spare time, Johanna is also a committed volunteer who has worked in some of Africa's poorest communities and with its most endangered animals.

New Forest West Constituency Labour Party invites you to listen to their guest speaker Johanna Baxter (CLP representative on Labour's National Executive Committee), Johanna will be speaking for a short period giving her considered view on the current political situation, then taking questions and having an informal discussion. This is an excellent opportunity for party members to listen to someone who attends the NEC and is at the heart of how the Labour party is run.
